

More “Best Lawyers” in appellate law than any other Oregon firm

The deepest bench of appellate lawyers of any private law firm in Oregon belongs to Harrang Long Gary Rudnick P.C. The firm has more top appellate lawyers, as ranked by “Best Lawyers in America,” than any other firm: Bill Gary, Sharon Rudnick, Jim Mountain, and Susan Marmaduke.

With offices in Portland, Salem, and Eugene, Harrang’s appellate lawyers bring a wide variety of experiences to the needs of their clients.

Bill Gary and Jim Mountain both served as Solicitor General for the State of Oregon, managing all of the state’s appeals, before joining the firm. Both have briefed and argued hundreds of appeals. Bill, who was also designated as a “Best Lawyer” in the areas of administrative and commercial litigation, has represented national corporate clients in the Oregon appellate courts and the U.S. Supreme Court to narrow business’s exposure to excessive or multiple punitive damages awards. Jim combines appellate experience with expertise in administrative and regulatory law. He defends businesses against government regulation and assessments.

Sharon Rudnick is a “Best Lawyer” in labor and employment as well as appeals. She also has significant expertise in the area of punitive damages and represented state and local governments in an appeal that helped stabilize Oregon’s PERS system. Susan Marmaduke has more than twenty-five years of experience as a business litigator in the state and federal courts. She handles appeals in a variety of areas, including those arising out of the firm’s business litigation practice.

The firm’s “Best Lawyers” are supported by a deep bench of top flight appellate lawyers: Jens Schmidt, Bob Steringer, Jona Maukonen, and Aaron Bals. Cases range from “bet the company” business disputes, to mass torts and products liability cases, to matters involving important constitutional or public policy issues.

When an appellate lawyer is needed, Harrang Long Gary Rudnick P.C. is the place to turn.
